AXOOM SOLUTIONS

Our range of services: Industry 4.0 solution in four steps

Does your company have a »digital strategy«?

Do you already use machine data, cloud services and digital optimization potentials in your production processes?

What are your competitors doing and how is your market developing?

STRATEGY
Our experience for your success

The development of a digital corporate strategy forms the basis. Together, we define new business models for your company for instance services, apps or platform solutions in order to reach your customers in new ways. We also have solutions for your products and Industry 4.0 innovations. Technology that is used around the world in industry gives you the security you need for your sensitive data. Feasibility studies create an optimal decision-making basis for you and our professional project management facilitates transparency for your project. Our best-practice methods ensure your desired results.

PLANNING
The core areas of our consulting

Smart Enterprise: Increase in the efficiency of your value chain along with answers and specific solutions for your current challenges, for instance production of the »batch size 1« for increasing product variance.

Smart Factory: Potentials from the increase of your delivery reliability, the reduction of throughput times and the avoidance of non-value-adding activities by using digitalization in your production.

Smart Machine: Concepts for simple connection of machines for fast and effective evaluations of machine data are impressive in practice. In cooperation with you, we develop the right approaches for vertical integration and networking.

IMPLEMENTATION
AXOOM SOLUTIONS is your partner – also during the implementation

We see ourselves as a holistic solutions provider and will also accompany you beyond the planning phase. At the cutting edge of technology, our team brings expertise from countless implementation projects into your project. Therefore, we can adjust ourselves to suit your specific environment and provide practical support.

SERVICE
Sustainability for your project

Besides agile project management, we manage using modern development and implementation methods. But there is no sustainable success without change management. For us the employees are in the focus of the change processes – this is where we actively accompany you.

The path towards digitalization of production and machine data is particularly challenging. Depending on the business model, product portfolio and market environment, you have to adjust to various scenarios and optimally align your company.

AXOOM SOLUTIONS pursues the goal of developing the best customer solutions with corresponding processes and technologies in order to achieve the transformation to the smart factory. Here, the focus is the seamless connection of machinery and software with users as the key element.

Our areas of expertise include the strategic consulting and implementation of modern concepts like the smart factory, LEAN management methods and technologies for global machine monitoring. We see ourselves here as a partner for your company and accompany you from your individual strategy definition, through planning and implementation right up to the supervision of your future IT solution.
